

Smart Phone Terminology

- Sign of the times. Can we communicate with a young, technologically advanced generation?
(Uploaded by Doniel Kramer)

Smart Phone Terminology

A mother was determined to break through the generation gap and have a meaningful conversation with her pre-teen about her first day back at school.

The mother asked, "Did you have a good day?"

The daughter responded with, "Yeah."

Trying to prod a more detailed response, the mother inquired, "Do you like school this year?"

The daughter said, "Well, sort of."

Again pressing the point, the determined mom asked, "Well, how much did you like it?"

As a sign of the way smart phones have changed the way young people think, the daughter replied, "I like it. But, I only like it about two bars."

-----
Received from Sermon Fodder:GCFL.net: The Good, Clean Funnies List--9/6/11